Media Advisory – City Activates Emergency Operations Center

New Braunfels, Texas — The City of New Braunfels activated their Emergency Operations Center at 5:15 a.m. this morning in order to address winter weather concerns in the area.

Due to icy conditions, City non-emergency personnel are asked to delay reporting to work for two hours.

Public Works has spread a fine aggregate, called chat, on the Garden Street, San Antonio Street, and Common Street bridges and are working in conjunction with TxDOT to monitor and assist with bridges on loop 337.

Citizens are urged to avoid travel unless absolutely necessary until conditions improve, as multiple minor accidents have been reported. Tune to AM 1420 KGNB for updates concerning this winter weather event.
