Ernest Eikel Park Playground Replacement Complete

New Braunfels, TX – City officials have announced the completion and reopening of the Ernest Eikel Park playground. The completed project includes an ADA accessible sidewalk connection to the existing sidewalk and new playground equipment. The previous playground equipment was removed and replaced due to new playground safety standards.

The second portion of the playground project, replacement of Jesse Garcia Park playground, should be completed by November 10th, weather and other factors permitting.

“We are thrilled to bring this much needed improvement to Ernest Eikel and Jesse Garcia Parks,” said Stacey Dicke, Parks and Recreation Director. “The new playgrounds are a vibrant combination of equipment, designed for fun for all ages, with increased safety and accessibility. The new equipment improves the play value creating a more dynamic and creative experience.”
