New Braunfels Public Library Holding Reading Challenge in 2015

New Braunfels, TX - The New Braunfels Public Library is holding a Reading Challenge for library patrons through the calendar year of 2015, with a Kindle Fire as grand prize. Patrons may pick up an entry form at any service desk in the library or download one from the library webpage at www.nbtexas.org/library.

The rules of the contest require that participants read a wide variety of books, with a total of 50 books read by December 31, 2015. Books may be read in any particular order. The 2015 Reading Challenge entry form lists the descriptions, themes and genres of books that participants in the contest must read.

“The 2015 Reading Challenge is just that, a challenge for our patrons to read an average of a book every week, and to read books that might not be what they would typically read. Our library has an excellent collection of books - fiction of all types, non-fiction, biographies, children’s and youth novels, even graphic novels,” said Library Director, Gretchen Pruett. “The Reading Challenge will give our community’s serious readers an opportunity to explore our library’s collection. It will also provide a great incentive, as well as guidance, for those who would like to read much more than they have in past years.”

The 2015 Reading Challenge is made possible with the support of The Friends of the New Braunfels Public Library.
