City Seeks Members for Boards and Commissions

New Braunfels, TX – The City of New Braunfels is seeking residents to serve on various boards and commissions.

“Each month, a variety of positions are made available for people who want to get involved in their local government,” said City Secretary Patrick Aten. “City residents can help shape the future of New Braunfels by bringing their ideas, expertise, and energy to a City board or commission.”

At this time, there are 29 boards to choose from, including the following ones currently seeking applicants:

- Building Standards Commission
- Community Development Advisory Board
- Downtown Board
- Historic Landmark Commission
- Landa Park Golf Course Advisory Board
- Library Advisory Board
- New Braunfels Industrial Development Board
- Parks and Recreation Advisory Board
- Zoning Board of Adjustment

A complete list and description of all boards and commissions can be found on the City’s website at www.nbtexas.org/BoardsCommissions.

A current list of vacancies can be found on the City’s website at www.nbtexas.org/BoardsCommissionsVacancies and it is updated each month.

Applications can be made online at www.nbtexas.org/BoardsCommissionsApplication.

Aten said, “Some positions on certain boards have specific requirements such as residency or a particular profession, while others are more general and have fewer requirements. But with more than 200 opportunities to serve the community, there is no shortage of ways for people to become directly involved in their local government.”
