Social Media Classes at the New Braunfels Public Library

New Braunfels, TX – The New Braunfels Public Library will be conducting various social media classes for the public every Tuesday, from 4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., beginning November 15, 2016.

These classes are open to the public with no registration necessary and will be held in the Conference Room at the library. Patrons can expect to learn the basics of different social media sites in order to build a solid foundation from which they can explore each site at their own pace. The classes will be a beginner’s guide, attendees will have time at the end of each course for specific questions and they will be provided with a printout copy of the course presentation for personal reference.

Classes for November 2016 are as follows:

- November 15th: Introduction to Social Media
- November 22nd: Facebook Basics
- November 29th: Twitter Basics

“It is our goal to help patrons become more familiar and comfortable with the use of digital media,” commented Miranda Valdez, Digital Services Librarian. “With the introduction of our Open Technology Sessions last September, patrons have expressed interest in attending courses specific to different social media sites and apps in order to stay in contact with friends and family. We will be introducing two additional courses, Pinterest Basics and Instagram Basics, in December and they will also be on Tuesdays, from 4:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m., in the Conference Room.
