Check Out a Cat for Life - Saturday, June 24th

New Braunfels, TX - Library patrons will have an opportunity to “check out” some non-traditional library materials this Saturday thanks to the Humane Society of New Braunfels, Inc. The fun begins at 10:30 a.m., with Family Storytime all about cats. Beginning at 11:00 a.m., Humane Society staff and volunteers will bring some furry library materials along with lots of information about pet ownership and animal care.

It is kitten season, and these little guys are looking for their “forever” homes. The library is a great place to learn about pet ownership – the responsibilities and the benefits - and now library patrons can check out this year’s kittens in action and even take a little guy or girl home. These kittens are to foster or adopt - not just a three week check out!

“Pet ownership has so many benefits for families, their animals and the community,” said Library Director, Gretchen Pruett. “Our Humane Society does wonderful work in this community with education and outreach, as well as tending our community’s animal population. The expansion of the fostering program in this community, which has almost doubled the number of animals rescued, creates fewer opportunities for hands-on adoption. We wanted to partner with them to create a program that is fun and beneficial to all, and gives the fostered kittens a chance to be cuddled in person. I think this event will meet both requirements.”

Humane Society staff and volunteers will remain in the library for the remainder of the day, with lots of kittens, and be available to answer any questions about owning a kitten or cat. For more information about this event, call Ms. Pruett at 830-221-4300.
