UPDATE: Homicide

New Braunfels, Texas — On June 21, 2017, as part of the ongoing investigation into the homicide of 17-year old Conrad Kuntz, detectives with the New Braunfels Police Department detained a 16-year old male from New Braunfels and charged him with Robbery.

NBPD detectives believe they now have a clearer understanding about the events that led to the June 17th, 2017, homicide of Conrad Kuntz. To recap:

- Victim – Conrad Kuntz, 17, New Braunfels
- Suspect #1 – 15-year old male, Marion, charged with Murder
- Suspect #2 – 16-year old male, New Braunfels, charged with Murder
- Suspect #3 – 16-year old male, New Braunfels, charged with Robbery

Investigators believe the parties involved met around 10pm on June 17, 2017, in the 1500 block of Lahn Road. During the course of that meeting, it is alleged that Suspect #3 attempted a robbery which led to a physical altercation. During the course of that altercation it is alleged that Suspect #1 produced and fired a handgun, striking the victim, causing his death.

The investigation by New Braunfels Police detectives continues and additional information will be released as the investigation progresses.
