City Names Human Resources Director

New Braunfels, Texas — The City of New Braunfels has announced that Mr. Jared Werner has been selected as Director of Human Resources.

“Jared began his career with the City over ten years ago as a supervisor in the Parks and Recreation Department,” said City Manager Robert Camareno. “Since 2014, Jared has served as the Assistant Director of Finance in the City’s Finance Department and has previously served in other roles in the organization such as Budget Manager and Management and Budget Coordinator. For the past several years he has made significant contributions in our compensation and health care administration analysis as well as in a number of other areas that mesh between the Finance and Human Resources departments. Jared is a tremendous asset to our organization and I look forward to his leadership in this new role.”

Werner earned his undergraduate degree from Texas A&M and received his Masters of Public Administration from Texas State University.

In his new role as Director of Human Resources, Mr. Werner will direct the City’s human resources staff in development and administration of policies, procedures and programs including: employee/labor relations, Civil Service, employment, compensation, performance management, staff development, risk management, employee benefits, compliance with all applicable federal, state and local laws, and City goals and objectives.
