Dr. Lawrence Field Speaks on Komodo Island at New Braunfels Public Library

New Braunfels, TX - Dr. Lawrence Field will give a special presentation at the New Braunfels Public Library on Tuesday November 14th at 7:00 p.m. in the library's meeting room. Dr. Field brings his lifetime of education and experiences to a special lecture entitled: Komodo Island: Chameleons, Marine Biology and Reptilian Natural History.

“Dr. Field has lived in 63 countries all over the world,” said Toni Davenport, Adult Services Librarian. “He served in the U.S. Marine Corps, worked as a consultant for the Arabian-American Oil Company in Saudi Arabia, was a professor at Stanford University and the University of California, and has lectured at innumerable universities throughout the world. He currently is an adjunct professor in Cutaneous Surgery at the UT Medical Center Department of Dermatology in San Antonio.”

In the presentation at the library, Dr. Field will be discussing the wildlife of Komodo Island, specifically, the reptilian natural history of the island. This program is made possible by the Friends of the New Braunfels Public Library and it is free and open to the public.
