Parks and Recreation Volunteers Honored

New Braunfels, TX – In recognition of the support New Braunfels Parks receives throughout the year from volunteers, the Parks and Recreation Department hosted the 11th annual Volunteer Appreciation Dinner earlier this month at the New Braunfels Civic/Convention Center.

Volunteer efforts are visible throughout our community in projects such as park cleanup, tree planting and mulching, trail building and repair, planting and weeding landscape beds and assistance at special events.

“The amount of time that our volunteers donate yearly is remarkable,” said Stacey Dicke Director of Parks and Recreation. “The department is truly privileged to have this quality of service contributed by our volunteers.”

Several volunteers and organizations were recognized with awards for their contributions to the Parks and Recreation Department and community as a whole.

The Parks and Recreation Department has an array of volunteer opportunities for individuals, small groups and large organizations. For more information on the Parks and Recreation Department’s volunteer program call 830-221-4367 or visit www.nbtexas.org/parks.
